Admiralty-Office, December 21, 1779.

CAPTAIN Chriſtian, of His Majeſty's Armed Ship the Vigilant, arrived here early this Morning with a Letter from Captain Henry, of His Majeſty's Ship the Fowey, to Mr. Stephens, dated in Savannah River, Georgia, November 8, 1779, of which the following is an Extract.

I BEG you will be pleaſed to communicate to the Right Honorable my Lords Commiſſioners of the Admiralty the following important Particulars:

That the French Fleet, under the Count d'Eſtaing, conſiſting of Twenty Sail of the Line, Two of 50 Guns, and Eleven Frigates, arrived on this Coaſt the 1ſt of September paſt, from Cape François, having on Board a large Body of Troops, purpoſely for the Reduction of this Province: They ſailed from the Cape on the 20th of Auguſt, and came through the Windward Paſſage, when they diſpatched Two Ships of the Line and Three Frigates to Charles-Town, to announce their Coming, and prepare the Rebel Force by Sea and Land to join the Comte d'Eſtaing; theſe Two Ships of the Line and Frigates were ſeen from Tybee the 3d of September, when Lieutenant Lock, of the Roſe, was ſent to reconnoitre them, and brought Word they were French.

Lieutenant Whitworth, who commands the Keppel Armed Brig, was ordered to get ready a faſt ſailing Tender of his own, to proceed to New York with this Intelligence, and ſailed with his Diſpatches on the 6th, but was chaſed in again by Seven Sail. On the 7th at Night he made another Attempt, wherein there is every Reaſon to hope he was ſucceſsful.

On the 8th, Forty-one Sail were diſcovered to the Southward of Tybee, plying to Windward, the Wind being Northerly, as it had been for ſome Days paſt, drove them to the Southward of this Port.

Major-General Prevoſt at Savannah was immediately acquainted of their Appearance, who went to work, with every Exertion, to increaſe the Fortifications of the Town, Diſpatches were ſent to the Honorable Colonel Maitland, who was poſted with Part of the Army on Port Royal Iſland, and to Captain Chriſtian, of His Majeſty's Ship Vigilant, to repair to Savannah as ſoon as poſſible, with the Troops, Ships and Gallies there.

The Fowey, Roſe, Keppel Armed Brig, and Germain Provincial Armed Ship, were ſo placed, that if the French Ships came in ſuperior, we might run up the River; and the leading Marks for the Bar were cut down.

On the 9th the whole French Fleet anchored off the Bar, and next Day Four Frigates weighed and came to Tybee Anchorage. It was determined on their Approach to run up the River with the King's Ships, and join our Force with the General, for the Defence of the Town; at this Time the French were ſending Troops from their Ships, which were firſt put into ſmall Craft from Charles-Town, and run into Oſſabaw Inlet, from whence they were landed in Launches at Bowley, Thirteen Miles from Savannah, under Cover of Four Gallies; and their Frigates were preparing to advance up the River.

From the 10th to the 13th we were buſy ſending to Town Part of the Fowey and Roſe's Guns and Ammunition, in Veſſels ſent by the General for that Purpoſe. On the 13th, the Fowey and Roſe being much lightened, ſailed over the Mudflat to Five Fathom Hole, Three Miles below the Town, from whence were ſent up the Remainder of the Guns and Ammunition.

The Comet Galley and Keppel Armed Brig were directed to place themſelves ſo below the Mudflat as to cover the Paſſage of Colonel Maitland, with the King's Troops from Port Royal, through Walls cut, from whom we had not heard ſince our Diſpatches to them were ſent, the Communication with Boats being cut off.

The 14th and 15th the Seamen were employed landing the Cannon and Ammunition of the Ships from the ſmall Veſſels, which having done, the Seamen were appointed to the different Batteries, and the Marines incorporated with the Grenadiers of the 60th Regiment.

On the 16th the Comte d'Eſtaing ſummoned the General to ſurrender the Town to the Arms of his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty; at the ſame Time ſaying, His Troops were the ſame who ſo recently ſtormed and conquered the Grenades; that their Courage and preſent Ardour were ſo great, any Works we ſhould raiſe, or any Oppoſition we could make, would be of no Import. Not intimidated with this Language, the General called a Meeting of Field and Sea Officers, when it was reſolved to take 24 Hours to conſider. In that Time the Troops from Beaufort arrived in Boats from the Vigilant and Tranſports (in Callibogie Sound) through Walls cut under the Direction of Lieutenant Goldeſbrough of the Vigilant; and now the Comte d'Eſtaing had his final Anſwer, That we were unanimouſly determined to defend the Town.

The General, ever attentive to increaſe the Defences of the Town, with Capt. Moncrief, our principal Engineer, were now indefatigable Night and Day, raiſing new Works and Batteries which aſtoniſhed our Enemies; and every Officer, Soldier and Sailor worked with the utmoſt Chearfulneſs: And I have the Pleaſure to inform their Lordſhips, the General has been pleaſed to expreſs his particular Satisfaction with the Services of the Officers and Seamen of the King's Ships and Tranſports during the whole Siege.

It being apprehended the Enemy's Ships might come too near the Town, and annoy the Rear of our Lines, it was judged expedient to ſink a Number of Veſſels to ſtop the Paſſage; His Majeſty's Ship Roſe, making at this Time Seventeen Inches Water an Hour, after ſheathing ſheathing her as low as we could at Cockſpur, her Bottom Worm-eaten quite through, and her Stern rotten, as appears by a Survey of Shipwrights held on her a ſhort Time before, wherein it is declared ſhe could not ſwim above Two Months, her Men Guns, and Ammunition being on Shore, I thought her the moſt eligible to ſink, as her Weight would keep her acroſs the Channel, when lighter Veſſels could not, owing to the Rapidity of the Current, and hard ſandy Bottom, which prevented the ſticking faſt where they were ſunk. The Savannah Armed Ship, purchaſed into the King's Service by Order of Commodore Sir James Wallace ſome Time before, was ſcuttled and ſunk alſo; Four Tranſports were ſunk beſides, which blocked up the Channel; ſeveral ſmaller Veſſels were alſo ſunk above the Town; and a Boom laid acroſs, to prevent the Enemy ſending down Fire-rafts among our Shipping, or landing Troops in our Rear.

The Fowey, Keppel Brig, Comet Galley, and Germain Provincial Armed Ship, were got to Town previous to ſinking the Veſſels; the Germain, having her Guns in, was placed off Yamairaw, to flank our Lines.

Three French Frigates were now advanced up the River to the Mudflat, One of them having 12 Pounders, with Two Rebel Gallies, carrying each Two 18 Pounders in their Prows, anchored in Five Fathom Hole; from whence the Frigate ſailed into the back River, with Intent to cannonade the Rear of our Lines: She threw a great Number of Shot, which being at their utmoſt Range, did no Execution. The Gallies advancing nearer did ſome Damage to the Houſes. A few Shot now and then from the River Battery made them keep a reſpectable Diſtance.

The French having now made regular Approaches, and finiſhed their Batteries of Mortars and Cannon near enough to our Works, on the 3d of October, at Midnight, opened their Bomb-Battery of Nine large Mortars: At Day-break they alſo opened with Thirty-ſeven Pieces of heavy Cannon, landed from the Fleet, and fired on our Lines and Batteries with great Fury. This laſted Day and Night until the Morning of the 9th, when finding little Notice taken of their Shot or Shells, at Day-break ſtormed, with their whole Force, the Comte d'Eſtaing at their Head. This Attempt proved moſt fatal to them, for they met with ſo very ſevere a Repulſe from only Three Hundred Men, aſſiſted by the Grape-ſhot from the Batteries, that from this Day they worked with indefatigable Labour to carry off their Cannon and Mortars, and deſcended to a Degree of Civility we had hitherto been Strangers to. Their Loſs was very great, moſt of their beſt Officers and Soldiers killed and wounded; the Comte d'Eſtaing among the latter.

On the Night of the 17th the French entirely quitted their Works, retreated to their Boats, and embarked under Cover of their Galleys. General Lincoln, with the Rebel Army, retreated up the Country with great Precipitation, burning every Bridge behind them; and we are told their Army is totally diſperſed.

The French have been favoured by the Weather to their utmoſt Wiſhes the whole Time of being on this Coaſt; their great Ships lying conſtantly at Anchor in Fourteen Fathoms, and the Small Craft from Charles Town employed watering them from this River. The only Accident we know they met with was loſing One Boat with 100 Men.

When the French Troops were all embarked, an Officer was ſent on Shore to exchange Priſoners: This being finiſhed, they loſt no Time in returning down the River with their Frigates and Galleys to Tybee.

The Vigilant, with the Scourge and Vindictive Galleys, the Snake Half-Galley, and Three Tranſports, were obliged to remain at Calibogie the whole Siege; where Captain Chriſtian of the Vigilant ſecured them all in ſo ſtrong a Poſition, and erected a Battery on Shore to protect them, that the French and Rebels thought it moſt prudent to let them alone: They are now all at Tybee, the French Fleet having left this Coaſt the 26th of October, and their Frigates left this River the 2d of November.

On the 4th of November the Myrtle Navy Victualler, who was taken by the French, and turned into a Watering-Veſſel, being blown out of this River a few Days before they left it, returned to Tybee with a Rebel Galley, expecting to find their Friends; they both fell into our Hands. The Galley is called the Rutledge, carries Two 18-pounders in her Prow, and Four Sixes in her Waiſt: I have named her the Viper, and appointed Mr. John Steel, Maſter's Mate of the Roſe, to command her, with an Eſtabliſhment ſimilar to the other Galleys, until the Admiral's Pleaſure is known. Mr. Steele's Behaviour at the Battery, on the Spot where the French and Rebels formed our Lines, deſerves particular Notice.

His Majeſty's Ship Ariel of 24 Guns, on a Cruize off Charles Town, (when the French came on this Coaſt) was taken on the 11th of September, after a very gallant Reſiſtance, by the French Frigate Amazon of 36 Guns. His Majeſty's Ship Experiment, having loſt all her Maſts and Bowſprit in a Gale of Wind, on her Paſſage from New York to Savannah, fell into the Middle of the French Fleet off this Bar, and was taken on the 24th of September, together with the Myrtle Navy Victualler, and Champion Store-ſhip.

I now beg Leave to acknowledge the particular Services of Captain Brown of the Roſe, before and during the Siege, for his very ſpirited Exertions on every Occaſion: Lieutenant Lock of the Roſe, and Lieutenant Crawford of the Fowey, were ever diligent, anxious and ſpirited during this whole Buſineſs. Captain Fiſher, who commanded the Savannah armed Ship, acted as Brigade Major to the Sea Department; and, while he continued in Health, did his utmoſt to forward the Service.

Captain Knowles, Agent to Tranſports, ſo ſoon as he was exchanged as a Priſoner, ſerved at the Batteries; and Lieutenant Goldeſbrough of the Vigilant, by whoſe Diligence and Activity the King's Troops were brought through Wallſcut to Savannah, I have appointed to the Vigilant, in room of Captain Chriſtian, who has the Honour to preſent you theſe Diſpatches. Captain Brown, late of the Roſe, was to have carried them, but his extream ill Health prevents it. The General having ſent his Diſpatches to England in a Brig of the Commiſſary General's Department, Captain Chriſtian takes his Paſſage in her alſo.

Captain Mowbray, of the Germain Provincial armed Ship of St. Auguſtine, who was ſtationed at Yamairaw to flank our Lines, was very diligent in that Service, and aſſiſting Lieutenant Goldeſbrough in ſinking Veſſels, and laying a Boom acroſs the River, above the Town. Mr. Tate, Maſter of the Nancy, and Mr. Watſon, Maſter of the Tweed Tranſports, have very particular Thanks for their conſtant Services at the Batteries. Mr. Wilſon, Maſter of the Venus, and Mr. M'Curdie, Maſter of the Neptune Tranſports, have the ſame. I muſt beg Leave to mention the very ſpirited Services of Mr.

Mr. M'Donald, Mate of the Eſk Tranſport, at this and former Times.

The Fowey's Cables that were worn were cut up for Wads; the Conſumption being great from the conſtant Fire from the Batteries, and her Sails were uſed for Tents; a Bomb fell into her Cabin, which broke the Mizen Maſt, and damaged her Deck and Stern Frame, but not materially.

Part of the Crews of the Experiment and Ariel, being ſent on Shore by the Comte d'Eſtaing in exchange, will compleatly man the King's Ships and Galleys on this Station, whoſe Names are under:

The Land Forces on board this Fleet were the Iriſh Brigade, (Dillon) the Regiment of Foix, the Grenadiers, Light Infantry, and a Picquet of the Regiments of Armagnac, Agenois, Biam, and Royal Rouſſillon, and of the Colony Troops of Guadaloupe, Martinique, Cape François, and Port au Prince, with the Marines of the Ships, amounted to about 5500 Men. They landed at firſt 4000, and, at different Landings after, 800 more; (the Rebels had 3000) beſides ſome Hundreds of free Blacks and Mulatoes taken on Board in the Weſt Indies. This Fleet is very badly manned, very ſickly, and the Ships in very bad Condition, ſhort of Anchors and Cables, having no Running Rigging to reef but what came out of the Champion Storeſhip from York, and intended for this Port. We have every Reaſon to believe this Expedition coſt them 2000 Men.

Their Deſtination, as we are informed from themſelves, is, the Comte d'Eſtaing, with Eleven Ships of the Line, to France; Four to Breſt, and Seven to Toulon: La Motte Picquet, with Five Sail, to Cheſapeake, from thence to the Cape: De Graſſe to Martinique with Six Sail, and the Troops: Three Frigates to remain at Charles-Town, this is certain, under the Chevalier de Romain.

Return of Seamen and Marines killed and wounded during the Siege.
